

Welcome to the Natural Beauty of Oak

While we manufacture items from many species of timber, over the last six months we have completed a number of projects using Oak and thought it would be a good theme for our latest newsletter.

Redoubt Fortress, Royal Parade, Eastbourne

Commissioned by Eastbourne Borough Council

When you are asked to work on an historic monument it is both a daunting prospect and a real privilege. We worked with Richard Crook, John D Clarke Architects to produce gates fit for the 21st century but to resemble the original design as closely as possible using traditional methods and prime quality Oak to create a real piece of craftsmanship.

In conjunction with Chris Dell we installed the new entrance gates, weighing around 400kg each, over 2 days utilising the existing wrought iron hinges and cups which had been restored to their former glory.

European OAK arched door

Private Customer - Crowborough

FL&B OAK door

We were contacted by a private customer who required a new front door but were not sure what they wanted. When they saw a photo of an arched boarded Oak door that we had made previously they decided that would work beautifully for them and as you can see from the photos it looks very smart. In addition to the manufacture we carried out the installation as well, providing an all round service.

OAK Wine Rack

Having made other joinery for this customer he asked if we could make a wine rack, tailored to fit under the stairs. After considerable design work we devised a plan to hold over 100 bottles using all available space. The carcass was made with Oak veneered MDF with Solid Oak lippings, supports and trims.

If you have an awkward space where you would like some additional storage, give us a call and we can design something specifically for you.
